Course: Energy Gouvernance credits: 5

Course code	TBVB24EGN
Name	Energy Gouvernance
Study year	2024-2025
ECTS credits	5
Language	English
Coordinator	J.R.G. Veldink

Modes of delivery	Education
Assessments	Energy Law - Assignment Energy Politics 2 - Assignment

Learning outcomes

Students can relate historical, current and possible future development of energy sources to societal developments.
Students can analyse complex geo-political energy-related issues both on a local and a global level.

Students will be able to recognise, interpret and explain in his/her own words the basics of international and national law as regards to energy.
Students will be able to give examples and to apply the theory to a case.

Content

Politics surrounding the theme of energy have always been of the most influential. Learn the importance of energy in the context of society by means of historical, present day and future examples. discussing the development of energy sources from a technical, economic and social perspective give a broad understanding of the influences of energy on global and local politics.

In this lecture series the specific aspects of meso and micro level economics will be discussed in combination with legislation related to the field of energy. Policy and business economics in the field of energy differ from that of other field due to the unique character of energy and the importance in society. Laws , regulations, subsidies and tax systems will be discussed.

Included in programme(s)

Exchange Energy & Society (autumn and spring)
Minor Energy & Society

School(s)

Institute of Engineering

share your talent. move the world.

Although every effort has been taken to ensure the accuracy of the information in the ECTS Course Catalogue, we cannot guarantee that the content and the information contained in it is always up-to-date, complete or true. Accordingly, no rights can be derived from the contents of the catalogue.