Inhoud

Level:
Advanced

Content:

The student learns research theory and applies basic research methodology in English. Theory, strategy and practice will enable the students to produce professional English-language products such as a research proposal and a research report.

Details:

This course will introduce the student to the language of science and research. By reading about and doing applied research the student acquires the skills required to communicate about methods, results and interpretations of those results.
Students will be provided with a “Research Skills worksheet” which is a Word document that is shared between lecturer and student in Onedrive. This work-in-progress document enables the student to work in a structured manner and enables the lecturer to provide feedback.
