Entrepreneurship & Retail Management

Profile of the programme

The Entrepreneurship & Retail Management degree programme trains students for both independent entrepreneurship and management positions in retail organisations. Business management within a broader framework – and without losing sight of the international orientation – is key in both cases. For this reason, graduates of the programme receive broad training that covers various aspects of business management in their proper context: economic, corporate, legal, staffing-related and organisational. Graduates are able to identify and report developments, as well as to investigate and anticipate these developments. They possess a helicopter view or (to use another figure of speech) are capable of intelligently shifting gears between various aspects of entrepreneurship. Graduates hold a large number of different positions in diverse sectors. Some alumni are employed as managers in companies that deliver either goods or services directly to consumers. Others actually found companies of their own. Such businesses and organisations are characterised by a strong focus on the consumer. The range on offer is typically broad and includes a varied group of products, so thinking in terms of concepts and formulas is a priority. Alumni contributes to the development of the overall formula in this setting. Graduates will lead teams or businesses of their own.

Learning outcomes

The degree programme equips the student with the learning outcomes required of a professional in the field of Entrepreneurship. These are:

- Innovating: launch new ideas, achieve innovations creatively and use technological possibilities to this end.
- Value creation: create sustainable and commercial value targeted at the wishes and needs of clients as well as other stakeholders. Students do so based on developments within the national and international context.

- Collaborating & networking: function in a group context by making an active and substantive contribution to the intended outcomes as well as the group process. Students build a network of relationships.
