Inhoud

As a follow-up to the course 'know your business' you go a step further in developing the business side of your idea / product / service. This requires good organization, management and an appropriate marketing approach. A thorough financial elaboration of the plans is also indispensable. You make your own business planning, develop and test a marketing campaign and work out a financial overview of your plans. You will not only do this within the classroom, but you will also experience a lot outside. By attending events and making contacts, you can further develop your skills. In conclusion, you will show the results of your efforts with a pitch. In an individual assessment you show what your personal contribution has been to the whole.

The student:

applies knowledge of business planning to his / her own business situation applies knowledge of marketing to his / her own business situation.

applies knowledge of finance to his / her own business situation.

expands his / her professional network in a relevant way.
