Inhoud

In this module, you will get the chance to present the results of your minor to real users during a Walk Inn event. It is the moment to demonstrate the ideas, solutions, and approaches you and your group have developed throughout the project. At the same time, it is a unique opportunity to see how your work resonates with users and professionals, and how your ideas might be used or further developed in the real world.

The Walk Inn is one of the final highlights of your minor. But this module is about more than just the presentation. You will also dive into the analysis of similar projects, explore how communication and organisation play a role, and use these insights to prepare your own impactful event.

Throughout the process, you will learn to explain your ideas clearly, engage with feedback from users and experts, and reflect on your personal growth. This is a chance to turn knowledge and skills into action and make an impact.
